To whom it may concern

I have known Mr. Adarsha Bhattarai from his Koç University Summer Research Program studies at Communications Research and Innovation Laboratory (CoreLab) under my supervision. During his time in our Lab, he performed various practical experiments using Internet-of-Things application kits from Keysight Technologies.

Mr. Bhattarai has a deep knowledge on computer programming languages and has valuable experience on electronics and telecommunications systems. Furthermore, he was one of the top students of Istanbul University, Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering with a very high GPA.

His working style is disciplined and systematic. He likes to analyze problems in deep detail to come up with appropriate solutions.

I strongly believe that he can be a brilliant Telecommunications Engineer.

Sincerely,
